SPECIAL BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

When people arrive in Canada as refugees, sometimes they come from situations where their birthdates have not been recorded or are unknown. In this situation, the government puts January 1 as the birthdate on their documents. This is the case for 5 members of Trillium's sponsored family from Ethiopia. Fatuma, Adan, Fatu, Hamza and Jibril all have birthdays recorded as January 1, so a few of their friends at Trillium decided to get together to have a birthday party for them. It was a lovely party complete with cake, ice cream, snacks, decorations and friends!

Since November 2022, Trillium has hosted the Mobile Food Market, a program offered by the Cambridge Food Bank.

While retail grocery store prices continue to be high, having access to affordable fresh produce is important for many people in our community. By shopping at the Mobile Food Market, you can save 30-40% off retail pricing on a basket of fresh produce.

Baskets are $10 each. If your basic needs are at risk, you may pay a minimum fee per basket, which is $5.00 or more.

Everyone is welcome. You can support the program by paying more than the suggested price.

The market runs every Tuesday from 5 to 6pm. Volunteers are essential to the program and several Trillium members have willingly given their time. If you wish to volunteer to help at the Mobile Food Market, please contact Wanda Brain.

Parish Nurse @ Trillium

And so a new year begins!

The parish nurse ministry will enter its 6th year at Trillium, in March 2026. There is a parish nurse office in the Trillium building that is a private space to meet for visits. Calling ahead for an appointment is definitely the best way of reaching the parish nurse. If mobility is a challenge, then a home visit or telephone call is always an alternative way of connecting.

The role of a parish nurse is best described as a church-based nurse. They are registered nurses who work within a faith community, providing healthcare services. Parish nurses focus on the physical, emotional, and spiritual health of individuals and families within their communities. A parish nurse integrates faith and health by providing holistic care, acting as a health counselor, educator, advocate, and referral agent, and coordinating volunteers to support their faith community's physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being. Examples of these services include, but are not limited to offering blood pressure checks, providing health education, visiting the sick, connecting people to resources, and facilitating support groups. They focus on prevention, wellness, and supporting people through life's challenges, linking medical care with spiritual support.

Pastor Mark's Musings

Dear Friends,

For the month of January our worship services are organized around the theme, A New You for a New Year. It is a play on the idea of New Year's resolutions. New Year's resolutions were a big thing when I was kid. My parents and their friends would make resolutions for the first day of the year to develop new habits or to break old ones. A quite common New Year's resolution in those days was to quit smoking.

The idea of New Year's resolutions essentially began with the invention of the yearly calendar. Once we had a day one of the year, it became customary for people to use this as a launching pad for self-improvement (and it should be added that almost all New Year's resolutions focus on self-improvement.) Over the past 4000 years (at least) people from a multitude of different cultures and different times have used the New Year as an opportunity to begin a new regime for life.

Today, the idea of New Year's resolutions seems somewhat quaint. For one thing, the trend through social media today is for year-round self-improvement. Why wait for January 1? Also, the follow through or lack thereof, tends to dissuade people from making these kinds of commitments. Having failed the previous twenty times at changing an ingrained habit it is fair for people to wonder about the utility of making them in the first place. I remember times watching my parents quit smoking only to see them back at it sometime in late January or early February. I see this same phenomenon at the gym I go to. Things get busier in early January and then they quiet down again by mid-February.

Changing habits or making new ones is hard work. It is not easy. It requires a certain insight into our inner motivations. What is it that triggers the undesired habit? What are the thinking patterns that sustains this habit? What is the reward we get from it? Even when we understand how the habit works it is still challenging to sufficiently disrupt it so that it doesn't happen again. Change is hard.

Part of the challenge of our "bad" habits has to do with the current version of human nature that we are working with. The more fundamental issue is not the habit per se (as important as it can be) but rather the deeper ingrained "habit" of our determination to live apart from any kind of real collaboration with God. The Bible calls this "sin". The Bible says that sin (or the habit of going it alone) is beyond our capacity or ability to change. Rather, a more radical response is needed. And that is what the month of January is about.

Your friend in Christ,

Mark
